

My headlights would react to your driving. The lights would focus like a Mag light. The faster you drive, the further your beams reach.

There is another feature I would like to include. When you are stopped the beams will level with gravity. The reasoning for this is so if you are stopped on an incline you are not blinding traffic.

Jacob D. West

Jacob D. West
03/12/2009